OIL STATION ATTENDANTS ARE HELD UP

Standard Oil Station, Third and Galena, Scene of Theft

Two bold stick-up men, nervously waving large automatic pistols, held up the Standard Oil Company service station at the corner of Third street and Galena avenue Saturday evening about 8:30 and escaped with about $35, which was taken from the station attendant and M. Clannahan of Joliet, who is employed by the Standard Company and who was waiting in the station at the time. The young men drove into the station driveway from the south in a LaSalle coupe, which bore a wide yellow stripe about the body. Coming to a quick stop in the driveway at a time when the attendants, Lee Carpenter and Allen Glassburn were changing shifts in the office, one of the men, jumped from the car and ran into the office, whirling out an automatic pistol and calling out:

"Down on the floor, all of you."

Watched Outside.

The driver deliberately stepped from the car and with the words, "I'll watch the outside," stepped to the door of the office and he, too, displayed an automatic pistol, according to the victims. Cursing his victims, the more active of the two, who was described as being short and swarthy, rifled the pockets of Glassburn, the night attendant who was just coming on duty and took between twelve and fifteen dollars from him. Only about five dollars of this amount belonged to the company. Clannahan, who was lying on the floor of the office, lost about $21. All of the keys to the various doors and locks at the station were taken from Carpenter's pockets. A black metal box first-aid kit which was on a desk, was quickly grabbed, the bandit apparently believing it to be a cash box. Several large envelopes containing advertising matter, were also scooped off the desk and taken away. With a command for the victims to remain on the floor for at least five minutes the short well dressed swarthy stranger, backed out of the door and into the waiting car, which drove out of the station drive, going east on Third street.

Officer Clarence Seagren of the police department stood on the corner in front of the Y. M. C. A. while the daring holdup was in progress and had observed the conspicuous car in which the bandits rode, but their operations were carried out without arousing the suspicions of the officer of anyone of many others who passed the station at that time.

A young couple drove into the station for gasoline while the robbery was proceeding and the driver honked the horn when the attendant did not appear and seeing the men lying on the floor of the office, thought that a friendly wrestling bout was in progress. The couple were undisturbed by the bandits who managed to get into their car and leave the scene without their revolvers being seen. The bandits were described as being very well dressed. The holder of the two was said to be rather short in stature, dark and swarthy and was very profane in his conversation. His companion was taller, not as heavy and had exceptionally thick lips and spoke very few words. Both appeared to be about 20 years of age and the nervousness displayed while they operated led their victims to the belief that they were not professional bandits.

Plates Mud-Covered.

Attendant Carpenter did not comply with the parting command to lay on the floor for at least five minutes, but watched the car as it sped out of the driveway and east on Third street. He reported the bold robbery to the police at once and descriptions were telephoned to police departments of all cities within a radius of 50 miles.

While no report of the robbery was made to the sheriff's office, the first intimation of the route taken by the bandits upon leaving Dixon, reached Sheriff Ward Miller Sunday morning when he was informed that some of the large envelopes had been found along the Lincoln Highway near the Luther Burkett farm east of the city. The car bore Illinois license plates, but these were covered with mud and could not be read. It is thought that the paid spent some time in Dixon selecting the site for their operation. Chief Van Bibber learned that they stopped at a north side lunch room possibly an hour before the holdup and ate a lunch.

GEO. W. HILL FORMER DIXON CITIZEN, DEAD

Passed Away Sunday At Rockford: Funeral Here On Tuesday

George W. Hill, for many years a well known and beloved Dixon citizen, passed away at 7:15 o'clock on Sunday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. R. Lindstrom in Rockford, his death resulting from a fall he suffered a few weeks ago in which he suffered a broken hip. Funeral services will be held at the Staples' undertaking rooms in this city at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Lloyd W. Waller officiating, and with burial in Oakwood.

Mr. Hill, who was 81 years of age Oct. 18 last, was for many years one of Dixon's prominent citizens. He conducted a grocery store on the north side for many years later retiring from business. He always took a very active interest in Republican politics and served as Justice of the Peace here for several terms. For a number of years he was in the state's employ at Springfield, retiring a few years ago because of his age, to make his home with his daughter in Rockford.

He was preceded in death by his wife and one daughter, Gertrude and is survived by four sons and two daughters: Elmer of Springfield, Ill.; George of Rockford, Arthur to Dixon, Clarence of Chicago and Mrs. C. L. Lindstrom and Mrs. Frank Colberg, both of Rockford. To them the sincere sympathy of a host of Dixon friends is extended.

JAPANESE NAVY DELEGATION IN WASHINGTON D. C.

Will Confer With Mr. Hoover And American Delegates

BY C. P. WILLIAMSON (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Japanese delegation to the London naval conference, which is expected to arrive today, will confer with Mr. Hoover and American delegates.

In conversations extending over the four-day stay of the delegation in Washington, such problems as can be discussed before the opening of the London parley will be considered. One of the outstanding questions expected to be gone into by the Japanese Commission and President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and the American delegates to the London conference is the Japanese request for a 10-10-7 ratio in auxiliary ships instead of the 5-5-3 ratio established for the capital ships fleets of the American, British and Japanese navies at the Washington arms conference.

The statement in Chicago of former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the delegation, that the Japanese would "insist" upon a 10-10-7 ratio was taken by official circles here to indicate the delegation will enter the conference with this point one of its principal issues.

The American and Japanese delegations will be in full accord on two questions when the London parley opens. The Japanese have already expressed themselves in complete agreement with President Hoover's policy for naval reduction instead of limitation only. Assurance that the two delegations will work in harmony on this point will be given to the American officials before the delegation departs.

EXTEND RADIO BOARD

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Both the Senate and the House today passed bills to extend the life of the Radio Commission indefinitely which under existing law would become only an advisory body on Dec. 31.

INVESTIGATION ROCKFORD DEATH IS NEARING END

Authorities Admit Discouragement: Clues All Blasted

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 16 (AP)—With the blasting today of what was believed the only remaining workable clue to the slayer of Cordelia Gummshier, Winnebago county authorities admitted they were on the verge of confessing defeat in their efforts to solve the mystery clubbing of the Rockford school teacher.

State's Attorney W. D. Knight had pinned great hope on the story of two fellow teachers a short time before the slaying a week ago yesterday morning, but that hope went glimmering today.

It was learned that the visit of the two, Sarah Burr and Marie Dobbin, terminated at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night instead of at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, which had first been reported. Medical authorities had, upon examination of the teacher's body when found late Sunday night, set the time of death as not more than 20 hours previous to its discovery, and Knight had been led to believe that the "party" had ended only a few minutes before the slayer entered the apartment.

Lights Out At 9:30 But Miss Burr and Miss Dobbin stated today that they had been misunderstood in their voluntary statement to police, and their declaration that they had left before 10 o'clock the night of the tragedy was corroborated by tenants in the same building. The latter averred that the lights in Miss Gummshier's apartment were turned off shortly after 9:30 o'clock.

Despite the futile week Knight and Chief of Police Homer Read have spent in running down clues, they declared today that the investigation would not close for at least several days.

"There are a few things yet to be checked," the State's Attorney declared. "While our work thus far has netted us nothing, and while it is true that we are discouraged, we will not abandon the investigation until every pebble has been turned. "Someone entered that apartment and killed Miss Gummshier. That someone left behind him his instrument of death. Whether the slayer entered through the window and left by the door, or whether Miss Gummshier admitted him from the hall and he used the window for escape, we do not know."

Lack of Motive "We do not know whether the lack of finesse in the slaying bears the seal of a low order of mentality or whether that apparent clumsiness and crudeness was carefully feigned as a step against detection. The evidence we have indicates either a moronic slayer or a very clever one. The apparent absence of any of the usual motives makes our progress exceedingly difficult. We are hoping against hope that some new lead will turn up—something thus far entirely undiscovered. If it does, we may be successful. Otherwise it will stand in its present aspect—an unsolved murder."

Crowds Watch Flood Advance And Recede

London, Dec. 16 (UP)—Crowds of anxious watchers along the banks of the Thames from Hammersmith to the heart of the city watched the river rise, at high tide early today, to within a few inches of the street level, and then recede.

It was the first test of the barriers and ramparts thrown up by workers in preparation for what was expected to be a disastrous flood, resulting from recent rains and unusually high tides sweeping in from the North Sea.

Patrolmen from Scotland Yard, however, expect the great test to come in the early hours of tomorrow and Wednesday, when the tides reach their crest.

Working 24 hours a day, laborers had constructed a new concrete barrier along the Chelsea embankment, which always has been one of the danger spots, and other sections of the shore line had been reinforced with sandbags.

Eight Members Of Family Are Killed

Montreal, Que., Dec. 16 (UP)—Eight members of one family were found dead today—their throats cut apparently with an axe—at the little village of Trois Rivières, Que.

Mrs. Andrew Day and her seven children, ranging in age from one to 14 years old, were the victims while Day was found wandering along the streets with a bad cut on his throat.

The killings were municipal, police said. Thus far there has been found no trace of the weapon used but police said there were indications the murderer had attempted to hack the heads from some of the victims.

Day was too weak from lack of blood to talk. He was taken first to a police station and gave authorities his address but could discuss the matter no more. He was taken to a hospital and officials there indicated he had a good chance of recovery.

All of those found dead were in bed.

BUS AND TRUCK COLLIDE AT INTERSECTION ROUTES TWO AND SIX EARLY THIS MORNING

Three Passengers Hurt, Given Attention At Dixon Hospital

The Pickwick Greyhound bus operating on the Chicago-to-Omaha run crashed into an east-bound truck belonging to the Glazer Produce Company of Marshalltown, Iowa, this morning at 1 o'clock at the intersection of routes 2 and 6 at the east city limits. Three passengers were injured and taken to the hospital.

Creighton Kisicki, 2758 Dean Street, Omaha, Neb., sustained a fracture of the collar bone and is confined in the hospital.

George Goodnow, 2563 Spaulding avenue, Los Angeles, Cal., was bruised about the body and sustained slight cuts from broken glass, but was expected to be released from the hospital and continue on his way.

Another passenger who sustained a slight cut on his hand was taken to the hospital where his injury was dressed and he continued west. The two men in the hospital were on their way home for the holidays.

Passengers Asleep There were a dozen passengers in the bus, some of whom were asleep when the crash occurred. Two windows were broken when the bus and truck struck and the passengers were generally shaken up. All of the passengers stated that the driver was using every precaution as the bus came down the hill on the Lincoln Highway into the city and was traveling at a rate of about 12 miles per hour. The heavy rear wheels started slipping on the paving and gained momentum, skidding around and crashing into the truck loaded with live poultry which was east bound. Neither of the heavy cars were badly damaged.

The passengers were transferred to a utility bus which is stationed here and continued on their way, the damaged truck being taken back to Chicago for repairs. The Iowa truck continued on its way east.

Pole Snapped Off One of the heavy metal poles supporting a traffic light at the corner of Second street and Galena avenue, was snapped off level with the sidewalk early this morning. According to the report to the police station one of a fleet of freight trucks passing through the city struck the pole and completely demolished the unit of the traffic system at that corner.

The heavy metal cases enclosing the automatic electric lighting mechanism was shattered and was almost thrown through one of the display windows at the Rowland Pharmacy. The steel pole fell heavily against the building and then rolled across the sidewalk. The truck evidently was not damaged and proceeded on its way without making a report of the damage.

Railroad Wreck In Ashton This Morn

Four steel gondolas of an east bound freight train on the North Western were derailed at the east limits of Ashton this morning about 7 o'clock, with the result that all traffic was somewhat delayed up until noon. A defective truck under one of the heavily loaded cars left the rails as the train was going east just in the rear of the Welshaer garage, and three other of the cars loaded with coal followed, one turning over.

The wrecking crew from the East Clinton yards were dispatched to the scene to clear the east bound main line track and while engaged in this work, another accident occurred. A west bound freight train which was being pulled by one of the big new Zeppelin type locomotives was passing a scene of the wreck which was being cleared up. The steam chest on the locomotive struck the side of the wrecking crane, practically tearing the chest off the west bound locomotive and putting the big new locomotive out of business. It was necessary to send another locomotive from Nelson to pull the west bound freight away from Ashton.

The second accident further complicated conditions and delayed several trains until they could be derailed around both wrecks. No one was injured in either of the accidents.

British Dirigible Given Trial Flight

Howden, England, Dec. 16 (UP)—The dirigible R-100, sister ship of the dirigible R-101, was taken aloft on its maiden flight at 5:50 A. M. today.

The giant craft was in command of Major G. H. Scott, who commanded the R-101 on her initial flight several weeks ago. A crew of 45 was aboard, including Squadron Leader R. C. Booth, who will command the craft after her first trial.

The R-100 cruised above the shed at an altitude of 1,000 feet and then headed for Selby enroute to the mooring mast at Cardington, where the R-101 has been placed in a hangar for alterations.

Five hundred troops and 50 police were necessary to handle the huge crowd which witnessed the maiden takeoff of the new dirigible.

It will be a pretty slim Christmas for the poor youngsters of Dixon this year unless the Goodfellows show a lot of action in the next few days. We are entering the last full week before Christmas and the Goodfellow fund is only about a quarter of the amount needed. The donations listed above are those received up until Saturday afternoon.

The Kingdom-Mt. Union Ladies' Aid Society, an organization of generous and big hearted women living in the country east of Dixon, contributed $26.60, the proceeds of a benefit card party held at Stony Point school, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith have supplied a baby carriage for one needy mother, and we have offers of two more. Mrs. S. Jones, 229 West Everett street, offers one and the Mellott Furniture Co. have made a similar offer.

Meanwhile, appeals for Goodfellow aid for the little folks continue to pour in. Surely there are enough Goodfellows in Dixon to provide a happy Christmas for the less fortunate children of the city.

The picture as a whole, with its dignified beauty, suggests poise and stability—two virtues which the world of today has need to cultivate. And now, in behalf of the Dixon Woman's Club, I am happy to have the privilege of presenting this picture to the Dixon High School. We hope that you, and those who come after you, will enjoy having it as much as we have enjoyed giving it to you.

Then, over all the scene, the blue haze softening and beautifying its ruggedness—just as our educational advantages, our cultivation of the finer arts in all ranks of life are exerting a refining cultural influence on the life of our nation.

PAINTING GIVEN HIGH SCHOOL BY CLUB THIS MORN

Dixon Women's Organization Presents Pretty Gift

A beautiful oil painting, "The Cumberland Mountains," the work of Holger Jensen of Chicago, who is a member of the Grand Detour summer art colony, was presented to the students and faculty of the new Dixon high school this morning at the assembly, a gift from the Dixon Woman's Club. Mrs. L. N. Deutscher, past president, made the presentation of the beautiful gift which is to be placed in the main corridor of the new building. Superintendent I. B. Potter received the painting on behalf of the school.

In her presentation of the gift, which is one of several given to the new high school, Mrs. Deutscher said: "The beauty of this picture and the thought expressed in it may be understood and appreciated by all minds and all ages. After all, isn't this a test of true art? The great masterpieces that have lived through the ages are the simplest to understand. A picture doesn't need to be bewildering to be considered great. As one of our art critics has said: 'True art explains itself.'"

This painting is a bit of typical American scenery, but it is more than that—it is an interesting portrayal of our national life.

Dominating the scene is the massive mountain, rugged and impregnable, representing the strength and power of our nation.

At the foot of the mountain, sheltered and protected by it, is the group of homes—not the mansions of our very rich, nor the hovels of our very poor—but the average American home, acknowledged to be the greatest single influence for good in our nation's life today. We know that in any emergency, at the least sign of danger, the full power of our nation would be immediately brought to the defense of our homes just as this mountain protects the homes in the picture.

Then, over all the scene, the blue haze softening and beautifying its ruggedness—just as our educational advantages, our cultivation of the finer arts in all ranks of life are exerting a refining cultural influence on the life of our nation.

The picture as a whole, with its dignified beauty, suggests poise and stability—two virtues which the world of today has need to cultivate. And now, in behalf of the Dixon Woman's Club, I am happy to have the privilege of presenting this picture to the Dixon High School. TWO AVIATORS
JOURNEY ACROSS
SOUTH ATLANTIC

Believed To Be Well On Their Way From Seville to Brazil

Paris, Dec. 16.—(UP)—Lieut. Col. Tadeo Larre Borges was far out over the South Atlantic today on his flight from Spain to Brazil, official advices received here said.
The French dispatch boat Belfort, carrying mail across the Atlantic, intercepted an hourly broadcast from the plane at 11:35 A. M. (5:35 A. M. C. S. T.) indicating its position as 92 north, 27 west, which is about 425 miles southwest of the Cape Verde Islands, and more than one-fourth way across the Ocean. Larre Borges and his companion, Capt. Leon Challe of France, were expected to make Brazil some time tonight. They appeared to be averaging about 100 miles an hour.

Seville, Spain, Dec. 16.—(UP)—With good flying weather reported as far west as the Cape Verde Islands, Lieut. Col. Tadeo Larre Borges of the Uruguayan Army, and Capt. Leon Challe, his French companion, were believed early today to have covered more than half the distance to the mainland of Brazil in their attempted non-stop flight across the South Atlantic.

Flying a French Breguet plane powered with a 400-horsepower Lorraine motor, the aviators made a perfect getaway at 12:55 P. M. (7:55 A. M. E. S. T.) yesterday. They planned, upon reaching the south American coast, to follow the shore line as long as their gasoline lasted, then, after refueling, to continue to Montevideo.

A large group of notables, including the Uruguayan Consul, Segimundo Lopez Rueda and Engineer Ganul of the Republican Ministry of Public Works, were present to witness the take-off.

Plenty of Food.—The fliers were well equipped with food, the plane being stocked with quantities of chicken, bananas, chocolate, coffee, rum, cognac and champagne. In the event of an emergency landing at sea, they have floats and two canvas life boats.

Two previous attempts to cross the Atlantic from Europe to Brazil in land planes have been successful. Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo Delpetro left Rome in a Savoia Marchetti plane on July 4, 1928 landing two days later near Natal, Brazil, establishing a long distance record of 4,448 miles.

The second successful flight of a land plane was made by the Spanish aviators, Captains Ignacio Jimenez and Francisco Iglesias, who left Seville March 24, 1929, and landed two days later at Sao Salvador, Bahia, Brazil—with an empty gasoline tank.

In 1927, Borges attempted to span the South Atlantic from Malaga, Spain in the hydroplane "Urugur." He and three companions were forced down in the Atlantic north of the Rio de Oro protectorate in North Africa, were captured by Moors, held for ransom, and rescued by Spaniards after a week of captivity. The plane was wrecked.

HOLIDAY LIGHTING.—Dixon's widely advertised Memorial arch is to be "dressed up" for the holiday period. Commissioner Chas. E. Miller arranged today to have the plain electric bulbs removed and the arch re-lighted with red and green bulbs which will remain until after New Year's. Contractor William Cahill has a force of electricians at work making the change today.

Another beautiful lighting effect which has attracted a great deal of attention not only of Dixonites, but all using the Galena Avenue bridge at night, is the big electric sign on the Illinois Northern Utilities Company's hydro plant at the foot of Ottawa Avenue. The plain bulbs were removed several days ago and red and green bulbs placed in the sign.

MINERS' STRIKE
NEARS COLLAPSE; WORKERS RETURN

Troops are Withdrawn As Loyal Deputies Guard Mines

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 16.—(UP)—Further subsidence of the rebel National Miners Union coal strike in Illinois was seen today in the return to work of about 1000 diggers at mines in Pana, Tovey and here.

Only one incident occurred to mar a day of comparative quiet in this mining region and that was when about 50 strike pickets, including many women and children, hooted and jeered and argued with diggers as they proceeded to work at Tovey. They finally were ordered to disperse by special deputies, most of whom are miners but who have volunteered for service.

When some of them refused to move, twenty-two, two of them women and six children, were taken into custody.

Efforts were made to send the children home but they persisted in picketing and booed the deputies. They finally were placed, kicking and scratching, in automobiles and brought to the court house here where it is planned to release them during the day. The others probably will be charged with disorderly conduct or attempts to incite rioting.

Troops Withdrawn.—The Tovey mine had 700 men working today. Troops were withdrawn from this mine Saturday. Mine number 58 was reported to have 200 men working as a result of the withdrawal of troops there today.

Troops continued on guard, however, at Kincaid and Langley. At the latter place the mine was operating with about 50 men at work. The Kincaid mine was idle.

The resumption of operations at Pana was accomplished quietly. About 600 men returned to work at two mines there today. Three hundred and fifty miners entered the Penwell Coal Company mine, while 250 diggers began work in the Number 1 mine of the Pana Coal Company. No demonstration marked the opening of the two Pana mines.

Miners employed at the Langley mine voted overwhelmingly yesterday to return to work but attached certain provisions to their vote. These conditions called for withdrawal of troops or any other form of official protection from the mine and assurance that approximately 100 strikers and sympathizers, sixteen of them women and girls, would be dealt with leniently. A committee of four men, appointed by the men and miners, were appointed by the men and miners to confer with civil and military authorities and W. C. Argus, General Superintendent of the Peabody Coal Company mine here, today.

MORNING AFTER SNOWFALL

I have been out walking in the caverned stillness of the wood, in the soft newly-fallen snow.
I found bird-tracks like the faint tracery of delicate embroidery on smooth white fabric, tiny stitches placed neatly one before another. Far down the hushed forest-aisles came blue-jays' cries and chickadees' faint twitterings, now and again. There were no others sounds: a windless quiet, everywhere. Hemlock boughs hung quiescent, wrapped in snow, and over all was a sky of softly plumaged gray clouds.
I have been out walking in the caverned stillness of the wood, hung with the hush of newly fallen snow.

HAVE WOMEN INTERPRETED STYLES WRONG?
New York, Dec. 16—(UP)—All the excitement over the long skirts now appears to have been unnecessary. Jacques Worth, French couturier here from Paris, is amazed at the way American women have interpreted the new styles and says the result is all wrong.
"Nowhere in Paris during daytime hours have I seen such exaggeration of skirt lengths as I have seen in New York," he said.
"The perfect length for the street, business or sports dress is two 'Scottish fingers' below the knee-line." Two "Scottish fingers" is the distance spanned by the extended first and fourth fingers of the hand. This is popularly supposed to be the "Scottish" measurement of two fingers of whiskey.

The chaplain and patriotic instructor will be elected at the next meeting.

A delicious banquet was enjoyed by all at 6:30 o'clock.
After the opening prayer by the president, the program for the evening was turned over to the Patriotic instructor, Mrs. Kime, the program including a cornet solo with piano accompaniment, by the Misses Lenora and Edna Switzer, who gracefully responded to an encore, also an instructive paper by Miss Clara Hartzell, pertaining to the history of the order; two piano solos were given by Miss Bernice Kime. Major Tourtellot gave a fine talk of the Spanish War; and an interesting address was given by Mrs. Maude Hobbs.

Prairieville Social Circle Meeting

A very interesting meeting of the Prairieville Social Circle was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Jesse Sivits, with an attendance of twenty-five members and eight guests and five children. George LeFevre, who was chauffeur for some of the Circle members from Sterling, also remained at the Sivits home to enjoy the sumptuous picnic dinner served at noon. The home was gay with Christmas decorations. This being the Christmas meeting, a grab bag containing a gift for each was a special feature of the program.

Nine verses beginning with the letters to spell "Christmas," and each one telling something of some member of the Circle, were read which caused much merriment. A bazaar was held, many articles being sold, netting a neat profit.

At the business meeting it was decided that the society donate two comforters they had finished recently, to the Red Cross of Sterling. The meeting then adjourned to meet Jan. 8th, with Mrs. W. E. Tillman of Sterling.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

I'd like to know what Sir James M. Barrie would have to say if he were to walk into a top store to buy a present for one of his several million young friends and the clerk showed him a concrete mixer.

I know what I said: "Heaven help us!"

There it was, about 15 inches long, an exact counterpart of one of those mastodonts of the road that gets in front of you when you're ten minutes late for a matinee, and defies all effort to pass.

The next thing that caught my startled gaze in this world of wonders was an army truck, solid, heavy, real rubber wheels and guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Of course, I suppose when Joe, Jr., has whole boxes of lead soldiers, a bombing plane and a mortar that shoots real wooden balls to the ceiling, he needs a motor lorry, too, but—

Stenography in Toyland
And what was that big bisque—no, it wasn't bisque (what's become of all the bisque dolls)—what was the doll drumming on? A typewriter! The doll, that wasn't so remarkable because we're all using abbreviated typewriters these days, more or less, but why in a toy department? I asked the clerk.

"Children use typewriters now," she enlightened me.

"Oh, I didn't know."

"Yes, in some places they are teaching them to write on typewriters in kindergarten before they learn to write longhand in school."

I verified this later. They say that the muscular effort of writing with a pencil is too difficult for a child under six, but that they can use a typewriter quite well before that. I really think it's a pretty good idea, but—

Toys Take on Reality
Toys, it took about a look and a half to convince me, had decidedly come to earth. They have left the realms of happy colorful imagination in which they used to wander and settled down definitely and finally to drab reality.

Oh yes, there are tons of marvelous things and the toy departments are the most exciting places in the world, but there is a trend to matter-of-factness, to workadayness, that I rather hoped the children could be spared. Every year it's just a little more so. Last year I'm sure there wasn't a concrete mixer, and the year before, very likely, there was no army truck.

The smell of pine brings back the memory of distant years when tarlatan and tinsel fairies hid in the tree branches, and Palmer Cox's Brownies grinned up roguishly from the book covers. The dolls didn't play on typewriters and there were no concrete mixers. But I suppose times must change.

Pola Negri And Prince Serge Agree

Paris, Dec. 16—(UP)—Pola Negri and Prince Serge Mdivani have agreed to a reconciliation, it was understood here today.

The reunion was reported to have been reached at a private preliminary hearing of the divorce suit which Miss Negri filed recently. The actress and her husband are planning to leave together for the United States.

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—Hersy McCormick today expressed herself as not at all piqued to learn that Prince Serge Mdivani and Pola Negri, his wife, had effected a reconciliation in Paris and had started on a second honeymoon. Miss McCormick's name had been frequently mentioned with Mdivani's following the temporary separation of the Prince and Miss Negri.

"I think they're very smart, very wise, to try again," said the Chicago opera singer. "I'm sure they know what they're about, and I know they are going to be very happy."

Miss McCormick has been twice married. After divorcing her second husband, Chester A. McCormick, the singer, a Texas girl, announced she was going to hunt a cowpuncher for a husband.

Several members of the society gave interesting tracts on Christmas in Rocky Bay, Ellis Island, Konoarack School, Japan and China. Miss Atkins very ably rendered a piano solo. Miss Hiller gave several readings, which were enjoyed by all. A liberal offering was taken for a Christmas fund. The following officers were elected for next year: Mrs. L. W. Walter, Pres.; Mrs. Maude Chiverton, Vice Pres.; Mrs. Bert Ortgiesen, Sec.; Mrs. W. H. Lenox, Treas.; Mrs. John Bohnstiel, Cor. Sec. The meeting closed with the usual prayer. A social hour followed the hostesses serving nice refreshments.

Knoxville, Tenn.—(AP)—A home with everything from a kitchen stove to a baby is provided for instruction of University of Tennessee co-eds.

Some time ago girls then in the home adopted a baby, and succeeding classes have kept it. They feed, clothe and, later on, plan to send it to school.

Two Rockford Girls Died In Auto Crash

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 16—(UP)—Two girls were killed when an automobile overturned and caught fire on state route No. 2, four miles north of Rockford, early Sunday.

Margaret Cullen, caught in the wreckage, was burned to death. Bessie Allen, 20, died later of a broken back and internal injuries. Bert Carlson, driver, and his brother, Harold, were only slightly hurt. Both suffered severe burns, however, in attempting to extricate Miss Cullen from the wreckage. Carlson said he misjudged a turn and applied his brakes too abruptly.

NEW JAIL NEEDED.

The present Lee County jail is so antiquated, so out-of-date and so far below the standard of requirements that it is imperative that the county do something in the way of remodeling or rebuilding and it seems as though the most economical and most satisfactory action would be to build a new jail. The cost of bringing the old structure up to standard would be so near the cost of a new jail that the practical solution is a complete new jail with all the modern improvements and safety devices.

It has been suggested that another story be added to the court house to house a new jail and sheriff's quarters, and if a competent engineer's report says that the structure of the building will permit the additional weight, which it is believed it would, the suggestion is a good one. Many jails are built on court house buildings and the plan has many advantages, including safety in holding prisoners and transporting them to and from court, lowering heating and maintenance costs, etc.

Certainly, something must be done to remedy the situation. The present jail is so poorly constructed as to be unable to resist a determined attempt at jail break. It is also unsanitary and impossible to keep clean. The arrangements are a menace to the turn-keys and jailors.

If improvements are made on the old jail they should consist of the installation of such equipment as might be later removed and used in a new building. Expert advice is to the effect that one of the imperative needs at the jail is a modern steel cage, an enclosure constructed of tool proof metal which would resist saws and files. This cage would enclose the entire interior of the prisoners' section of the jail, would bar access to the ceiling or windows and would provide safe and modern cell rooms and daytime living quarters for the prisoners. The cage comes in sections and could be taken down and rebuilt in a new jail at any time, so such a purchase now would be a good investment.

However, anything that is done toward modernizing the old jail will simply be putting off the day when Lee County accepts the inevitable and starts the construction of a complete new jail, and the sooner we realize it the sooner will we get it built and paid for.

COL. FRANK L. SMITH.

News dispatches recently made a forecast that Col. Frank L. Smith, of Dwight, Ill., may become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman-at-Large. The Telegraph hopes this rumor proves to be true. We should like to see Col. Smith back in public life. We should like to see Illinois reward him with high honor. We regard Col. Smith as a highly intelligent and thoroughly capable man, a patriotic American and one of type of leaders of whom we need more in politics.

Frank Smith has given years of valuable service to Republicanism in Illinois. We believe the voters would welcome an opportunity to elect him and we are sure that his election would be of value to the state and nation.

The late Congressman-at-large Henry R. Rathbone, whose death robbed this state of a valuable representative, and the decision of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick to enter the race for the senatorship means that this state must select new representatives at large in congress. We hope to see Col. Smith become one of them.

Don't growl about life this time of year. The rabbit season is open and just suppose you were a rabbit! No home but a hole under a corn shock and three times a week some red-faced rowdy kicks the shock over and sprinkles your western exposure with an ounce and one-quarter of No. 6 chilled shot. And thus you spend the holidays until you are in a frying pan.

The city council is talking about widening some of Dixon's down-town streets. Splendid idea. We have the new school and the new bridge and are moving along finely in the matter of civic progress. Let us not lose our momentum, but keep on accomplishing fine things like that.

Have you contributed your share toward a Christmas for the poor kids of Dixon yet? Get your contribution to the Goodfellow Club before it is too late. Do you want some youngster to be heartbroken with disappointment on Christmas day just because you were too thoughtless to mail your check?

When you trade away from Dixon you are boosting the other city's game and hurting your own city. You can buy your Christmas presents here at lower cost than away from here and if you don't think so you are not only kidding yourself—you are letting the out-of-town merchant kid you also.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY JOCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites paint job turned out fine. They put the things in one long line and calmly looked them over. There were sleds and everything. "I think," said Copsy, "we are through with this job. Now, what shall we do? At other tasks for Santa, I would like to have my fling."

Then Clowzy snapped right back and said, "Don't let that worry you, my head. There still is heaps of work for us. I'd like to take a rest. Course painting's fun, but even so, when you're not working very slow you get tired out. Let's loaf a while so we can do our best."

Another voice cried out, "You're right. I heard you, little Tinymites, and I will very gladly let you all rest for a while. 'Tis only you're at work for Santa Claus." 'Twas Santa Claus who was speaking and he made the Tinymites smile.

Then he continued, "Come to me and all hop right up on my knee. I think I know a story that you all will like to hear. I'll tell you all about my Toyland, 'cause you have gladly lent a hand. You'll understand why I am always bubbling over with cheer."

The Tinymites hopped into his lap. He gave his knee a healthy slap, and said, "You see, in Toyland, we're at work the live long year. We make things for good girls and boys and know such things for good girls and boys and know such things will bring them joys. It's fun to know that all their Christmas presents come from here."

"What better pleasure is there, now than helping folks feel good somehow? I have a heap of work each year, but do the best I can. Then, Christmas eve I drive around to where good little tots are found. This makes me happy. It's no wonder I'm a jolly man."

(The Tinymites fix a mechanical cow in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

BOSTON TEA PARTY

One hundred and fifty-six years ago today, on Dec. 16, 1773, the famous "Boston Tea Party" took place.

After an unavailing protest against the importation of tea as part of the policy of taxing the colonies without representation in Parliament, a number of Bostonians, in Indian disguise, proceeded to three ships carrying cargoes of tea and began throwing tea into the harbor.

For three hours the work went on, and 342 chests were emptied. Then, under the light of the moon, "Indians" marched to the sound of fife and drum to their homes, and the vast throng of spectators melted away.

Paul Revere, who is said to have been one of the "Indians," was sent to Philadelphia with the news, which was announced at that place amid ringing of bells and general rejoicing.

In retaliation for this action, the port of Boston was declared closed.

ADDRESSES—Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box or rural route number whenever possible. Place sender's return card in upper left corner of address side. Tags should not be used unless necessary, in which case a copy of the address and return card should be placed inside the parcel for identification if tag is lost.

PACKING AND WRAPPING—Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Wrap parcels securely, but do not seal them except when bearing a printed label or endorsement reading: "Contents: Merchandise, Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary," together with printed name and address of sender, as sealed parcels not so labeled or endorsed in printing are subject to postage at the letter rate.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT AND SIZE—Parcels may not exceed 84 inches in length and girth combined nor weigh more than 70 pounds if for delivery within the first, second, or third zone, or 50 pounds for any other zone.

PERMISSIBLE ADDITIONS AND ENCLOSURES—Parcels may be marked "Do not open until Christmas," this being permitted in order to encourage early mailing.

Written greetings such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With best wishes," and names, numbers, or symbols for the purpose of description may be inclosed with third or fourth class (parcel post) mail. Books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other written additions subject parcels to letter postage.

Do not inclose letters in parcels, as doing so would subject entire parcels to letter postage. Communications prepaid at the first-class rate may be sent with parcels prepaid at the third or fourth class rate by securely attaching the envelopes containing the letters or other writing.

Sisters' Babies Born Same Hour

Unusual sisterly affection has caused Mrs. Gordon Brooks and Mrs. James Scoville to share equally in everything all their lives. They carried it to an extreme degree recently when both became mothers within an hour of each other at an Altadena, Calif., hospital. Even the babies co-operated by both being girls. At the left is Mrs. Brooks with baby Carolyn Ann and at the right are Mrs. Scoville and Mary Kathleen.

ten matter to the outside of parcels.

SEALS—Christmas seals or stickers should not be placed on the address side of mail.

SPECIAL HANDLING—FOURTH-CLASS MATTER ONLY—Parcels of fourth-class matter endorsed "Special handling" will be given the expeditious handling and transportation accorded first-class mail (but not special delivery) upon payment, in addition to the regular postage, of the following charge:

Cents	Second.
Up to 2 pounds	10
Over 2 pounds up to 10 pounds	15
Over 10 pounds	20

SPECIAL-DELIVERY FEES—

Cents	Second.
Up to 2 pounds	10
Over 2 pounds up to 10 pounds	15
Over 10 pounds	20

The prepayment of the foregoing fee on second, third, or fourth class mail entitles it to the same expeditious handling and transportation as is accorded first-class matter, and also entitles it to special delivery at the office of address.

INSURANCE—Valuable parcels should be insured. The fees are: For parcels valued not over $5, 5 cents; not over $25, 8 cents; not over $50, 10 cents; not over $100, 25 cents. Return receipts 3 cents extra. All in addition to the regular postage.

WHERE TO MAIL PARCELS—Uninsured parcels 8 ounces or less in weight may be mailed in street letter or package boxes, at all classified stations and branches, and at such numbered stations as are designated to receive parcels. Parcels weighing over 8 ounces can not be mailed in street boxes, but must be taken to the main post office or classified station or branch. Parcels containing meat, food products, cut flowers, or other perishable matter should be mailed only at the main post office or one of the large classified stations.

Attention is renewed to previous efforts to discourage the use of small or odd-sized greeting cards and envelopes, which practice is so costly to the Postal Service. The cooperation of manufacturers, dealers, and the public generally in the elimination of small-sized cards and envelopes to the end that the Postal Service may be relieved of the burden of handling them is desired and should continue to be sought and cultivated. It should be suggested that in no case should cards and envelopes be smaller than 2½ by 4 inches, a size somewhat larger being preferable.

and a motor, while a man's mechanism consists of a brain, heart, lungs, muscles, nerves and the power to co-ordinate thought and motion.

No large air transport corporation would think for one minute of letting an airplane leave the ground until it had been tested and checked very carefully by expert mechanics. At each and every terminus of our system the airplanes, upon landing, practically swarms with trained mechanics, and before that ship is allowed to leave the ground again there have been in the neighborhood of seventy separate examinations made of its various important vitals. This is done in an endeavor to detect any obscure or hidden flaw that might develop into a serious defect while the ship would be in flight.

Why there is more reason to examine such a ship carefully than the man who is to fly it, no one can understand. Yet a prospective passenger invariably looks the ship over carefully, walking around it, nodding at this, and feeling of that, and saying that it looks safe enough for him; but how many look the pilot over to see whether he looks safe or not?

A year and a half ago we figured that it was not good practical business merely to examine a ship with such painstaking care and then to take chances on the pilots being in sound physical condition. So we instituted the monthly examination of each and every pilot. I examine these men very carefully every month, and use every known precaution and test to determine their fitness to carry on in the air. Having graduated from the U. S. Army School of Aviation Medicine, I use all of the approved methods of the U. S. air services and am constantly looking out for new ways with which to improve and conduct these examinations.

What is needful for the machine is equally essential for the pilot, for we want to avoid defects; and what is necessary for the pilot is necessary for every man, woman and child who has something to do that is

Reichstag Votes To Support Chancellor

BY MAURITZ HALLGREN.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—(UPI)—By a vote of 22 to 156, the Reichstag supported a motion of confidence in the government of Chancellor Hermann Mueller today, temporarily averting a crisis over the financial reform program which threatened to result in an overthrow of the government.

The expression of unqualified confidence in the government's general policies was the first section of a motion which included a compromise formula on the financial reform plan.

of Minister of Finance, Dr. Rudolph Hilferding.

By supporting the government's motion for a vote of confidence the Reichstag approved the government's declaration for the necessity for financial reform, although it did not approve the details of Hilferding's program.

MILLIONLESS
MILLIONAIRE
DIED SUNDAY

Only Few Called At
Bier Of Captain
E. W. Morrison

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Captain Edward W. Morrison, the millionless millionaire whose spendthrift days made him one of the best known figures among Chicago "good fellows," has not, in death, a single wreath or flower on his solid bronze coffin.

Only a handful of persons called yesterday at the undertaking parlors to view the body of the 93-year-old man after whom a great loop hotel was named. He had outlived all his old enemies; and good spenders often are quickly forgotten when spending days end.

Captain Morrison sailed the seas for 30 years before he retired to the comfortable task of getting the most out of an $8,000,000 fortune. He was called the "millionless millionaire" because of difficulty experienced in realizing upon his wealth, mostly invested in real estate.

A man of courage as well as prodigality, he was known to cab drivers, bar tenders and persons in all walks of life as one of the important men of town. Even at the age of 75, Capt. Morrison would take his drinks with young and old. He was regarded as a connoisseur of the Tom and Jerry, and bartenders vied to prepare the kind that best satisfied an epicurean palate.

An effort was made in 1916 to have him declared incompetent. The court instead ruled Capt. Morrison a spendthrift, to safeguard his fortune. At the time of his death Saturday his annual income was estimated at $140,000 a year.

European Starling

Pesters Farmers

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Europe—that gave to American agriculture the corn borer—comes forth again with another pest to pester the farmer; European starling.

Alfred M. Bailey, director of the Chicago Academy of Sciences Museum, today warned farmers of their new enemy—one that outdoes the corn borer, for it attacks all grains and fruits.

Mr. Bailey describes the starling as resembling the bluebird, in size, pugnacious, hardy, noisy and prolific. The bird thrives any place, said Mr. Bailey—in holes in trees and crevices of buildings, always dispossessing the previous feathered occupants, if any.

Like the English sparrow, the starling was introduced at the eastern seaboard and now nearly every state in the east and south reports large numbers of the birds. They rove from field to field in large coveys and can lay waste to acres in a day, Mr. Bailey said. Always the migration has been steadily westward.

They have one redeeming quality—they devour certain ravaging insects.

Morgan Will Risk
His Title Friday

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Tom Morgan, possibly most willing of all champions to place his title at stake, will give Benny Bass of Philadelphia a shot at the junior lightweight championship in Madison Square Garden this week.

The Morgan-Bass struggle of Friday night heads a boxing schedule enlivened by the second ring appearance of Art Shires, who apparently would rather fight than play first base for the Chicago White Sox.

Shires, who knocked out Dangerous Dan Daley of Cleveland in the first fight he ever was paid for, meets George Trafton Chicago pro football player at the White City Arena Chicago in a five rounder tonight.

Morgan will be defending the title he won from Mike Ballerino for the fifth time when he faces Bass over the 15 round champion—ten rounds.

Whipping Post For Errant Husbands

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Judge Edgar A. Jonas believes the whipping post the only fitting punishment for fathers who abandon their children.

In an address before the Covenant Club last night, the jurist advocated the return of the post of olden times with its chain wristlock, as a reminder to errant fathers not to err again. The meeting was one dealing with domestic relations problems, and another speaker, Judge Charles P. McKinley, blamed differences in nationality of husband and wife for a large share of marriage troubles.

Defective mentality was cited by Judge Harry Olson as what he thought the cause of most matrimonial differences.

SHIRES TO GET SECOND CHANCE IN PRIZE RING

Meets Trafton, Giant Football Player, This Evening

By WILLIAM WEEKES
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires, and George (Supergreat) Trafton, will say it with gloves tonight.

After a week of bandying conversation—liberally sprinkled with personal pronouns—Shires, the fighting baseball player, and Trafton, the battling football player, will wallop each other for five rounds or less on Promoter Jim Mullen's card at the White City arena.

"Just a stepping stone to bouts with the best of them," was Shires' pre-fight statement.

"Shires' fight career will end tonight—suddenly," Trafton said. It will be Shires' second fight-for-profit, and his aim is to score his second consecutive knockout victory. Shy Arthur also expects it to serve as a tune-up for his world series battle with Hack Wilson, slugging Chicago Cub outfielder—if the project does not collapse as it threatens to do.

Trafton Heavier
Trafton, who will have a 40-pound weight advantage, will be making his initial venture as a money-seeking heavyweight boxer under a serious handicap. The handicap is a black eye, suffered yesterday during the Chicago Bear's final game of the season against Bennie Friedman's New York Giants. Trafton tackled Tony Plansky, Giant halfback ace and came up with the dark optic.

The 235-pound gridiron star was worried, fearing his public would believe Shires was responsible for the black eye, he made a formal announcement that he had a black eye before ever entering the ring with the White Sox first baseman.

"The only reason this Trafton fight is over will be because I will locate his chin before I get a chance to work on the good eye," Arthur said.

There still was hope that Hack Wilson would leave his Virginia mountains to meet Shires in the ring, but it grew more remote today. Hack was inclined to call off the chance to pick up $15,000 and $1,000 for training expenses, because of opposition by the Cub management.

To Accede to Boss
The Dempsey of the dugout said he would make his decision within 24 hours, but indicated he would accede to the wishes of his wife, and William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs.

"I hate to pass up that $15,000 for 15 minutes in the ring," Wilson said in a telephone conversation from his home Martinsburg.

Mr. Veeck would say nothing other than to reiterate:

"We don't want Wilson fighting." Another capacity crowd was anticipated at White City, which would be an attendance of about 5,000 spectators and receipts of approximately $13,000. Shires will receive 20 per cent of the gate, while Trafton has a flat guarantee of $1,000.

GRIDIRON NEWS

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 16—(AP)—Football interest has begun to die out in most parts of the east, but at West Point it is approaching its highest pitch of the season. It is only two days until the Cadet teams start its long journey to Palo Alto, Cal., for the final and perhaps the most important game of the 1929 season against Stanford.

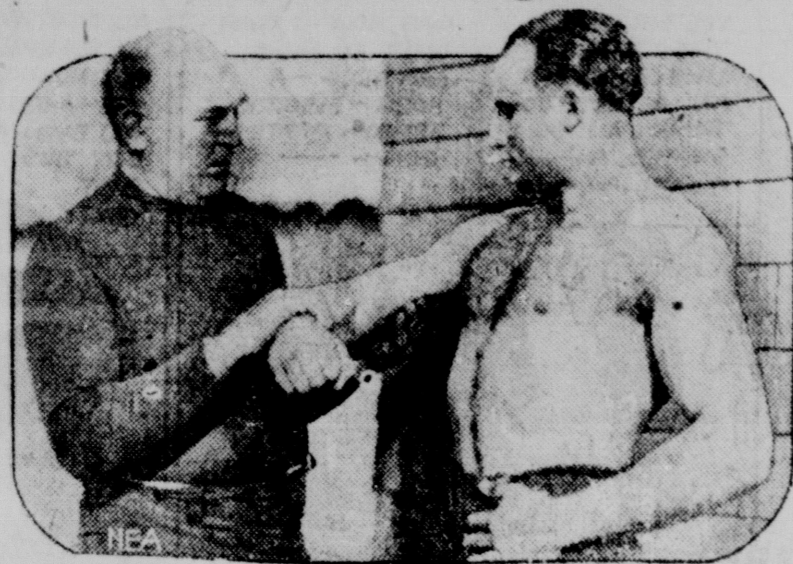

The squad, which comes closer to being a full company, is scheduled to leave here Wednesday aboard a special train. Head Coach Biff Jones has planned stops for workouts at Galesburg, Ill., Syracuse, Kan., and Needles, Calif., before reaching Palo Alto Sunday afternoon for a week of hard practice for the game Dec. 28. The return tour, which includes visits to the movie studios at Los Angeles and a day's stop at the Grand Canyon, is due to wind up at West Point Jan. 4.

The party which will make the trip up will total 142 people, of which 110 are football players. As a reward for their services during the grueling practice season, the scrub and plebe teams will be taken along with the regulars. Only the members of the squad or varsity will take part in the game, but the others will be used as they have been since September, to give the regulars practice along the route.

A train of thirteen cars, fitted out with every possible convenience for a traveling football team, has been made up to take the squad to the coast and back. It includes six pullmans, two dining cars, two baggage cars, and observation car and two specially equipped cars, one fitted out as a dressing room and the other as a shower room. When they arrive at the places where they are to stop and practice, the players can be all ready to take the field, and when the practice is over, they can take their showers and rub down on the run.

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—Twenty-two, midwestern and eastern football stars who will represent the east and west in the Shrine benefit game on New Year's Day at San Francisco.

"That's knockouts in them thar muscles," declared grizzled Jim Jeffries, former world's heavyweight champion, as he feels the biceps of his protégé, Albert Morro, whom Jeffries is training secretly behind closed doors on his ranch at Burbank, Calif. The former heavyweight champ believes he has a future titleholder in Morro, whose measurements are: Height, 6 feet 1 1/2 inches; weight, 195 pounds; reach, 76 inches; chest, normal, 43 inches; expanded, 48 inches. Morro is 21 years old.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

AQUATIC FOOD CROPS

Hundreds of lakes and streams throughout the country have shown evidence each year of a diminishing number of piscatorial inhabitants. In some instances these waters are as clear as crystal and the destructive hands of pollution still unknown. What, then, causes fish life to decrease? It may be over abundance of rough fish, such as buffalo, carp, suckers, gar, lawyers, who ravage the spawning beds each spring—and it may be the general vegetation condition of the water.

In the event of the latter, the following resume on water vegetation might prove of value to the amateur fish culturist. This material comes from the Angling Department of the National Headquarters of the Izaak Walton League of America.

In addition to the food crop that fills the entire area of a lake, there are the aquatic plants, growing near the shore and in shallow places, which are an important source of food for game fish. Most persons refer to them as weeds. These large aquatic plants grow to a depth of 18 feet, and produce 1,800 pounds of fodder to the acre—a much larger hay crop than one would guess.

today began active organization.

The squad includes 11 eastern players and a like number from the midwest, the former selected by Coach Andy Kerr of Colgate, and the rest by Dick Hanley of Northwestern. The first workout was set for today at Dwyer Stadium. Northwestern's home field, which will be the training ground until the squad starts west.

The team this year appears to be more powerful than last year in the line, while the list of backs also is impressive. Outstanding among the linemen are Cannon and Twomey of Notre Dame; Anderson and Erickson of Northwestern; Bronko Nagurski and Tanner of Minnesota; Bill Mooney of Georgetown, and Red Sleigh of Purdue.

Famous backfield men of the season who will invade the west are Frosty Peters, Illinois; Willis Glasgow, Iowa; Lloyd Brazil, University of Detroit; Tommy Dowler, Colgate and Tony Holm, Alabama.

Four games have been played in the series, the first three resulting in victories for the west, while last year's classic was won by the east, 20 to 0.

Chicago Blackhawks Play In Big Stadium

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—The removal of the Chicago Black Hawks from the National Hockey League, from the Chicago Coliseum to the huge Chicago Stadium, has brought immediate results.

A record crowd of 14,313 spectators—nearly 6,000 more than the biggest previous attendance—last night watched the Hawks defeat the last place Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 1, in the first game in the Stadium.

Big crowds will be necessary if the club management is to make money or even break even this season. Major Frederick McLaughlin, owner of the team, leased the Stadium for hockey to provide sufficient seats, in spite of the fact that his lease on the Coliseum extends to the end of the playing season.

HONEYMOON

Berlin—Herr and Frau West, off on their honeymoon, decided they needed an automobile. They stole one off the street. Then they decided they needed food, so they sold parts of the car, bought food with the money and abandoned the car. Then they decided they again needed a car. They stole another—in an act of stealing their seventh honeymoon carriage.

OVER 17 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

Insects and worms feed upon the growing plants and by their numbers invite hungry fish to a happy hunting ground. The average angler knows his best fishing is to be found in among the reeds and grasses, and that is why he usually lowers his bait among the watery forests. Aquatic plants reach their growth and drift away in deeper waters, where they sink, to become the food and animals and start the process all over again.

Some folks have a notion that fish employ their leisure hours viewing the wonders of the deep. However much a fish might desire to do this, his vertical journeys are limited. A fish must breathe, and to do this he must remain reasonable near the surface where he can obtain a supply of oxygen.

Owing to the decomposition that occurs in materials on a lake bed, the oxygen in the lower waters is exhausted. In some lakes a fish cannot live at a greater depth than 40 feet. This rule, however, is not invariable, being modified by the degree of decomposition and chemical changes on the lake bed. All lakes have their own limits for sustaining fish life, it depending on their character and environment.

One More Big Contest On Gridiron Is All That Remains

BY FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 16—(UP)—Save for one more god football game (Army-Stanford), a few desultory fights and the inevitable conferences and conventions for the betterment of this and that, the sport year of 1929 is at an end.

Looking backward, one recalls dramatic episodes in the world of sport during the year, with the death of Tex Rickard at the very outset the most moving and the most far-reaching event of the twelve-month.

The sport year began auspiciously with Roy Riegel's surprising 70-yard run the wrong way and Georgia Tech's 8 to 7 victory over California in the Rose Bowl.

The death of Rickard on the following Sunday overshadowed everything for a time, and events have proven since how much the king of promoters meant to boxing.

Thrills of Year

Thrills of the year included: Max Schmelling's spectacular victory over Johnny Risko on a technical knockout in Madison Square Garden, the fight which made the German heavyweight's reputation. Ray Conger's smashing victories at the mile over Paavo Nurmi, Edwin Wide, Purje and Lermond and other stars of the indoor track and field season.

The night—not the fight—in Miami Beach, when the most picturesque boxing crowd in history attended the Sharkey-Stribling bout.

The lively row precipitated by Ray Barbuti, America's outstanding Olympic victor of the previous year, when he told the A. A. U. what everyone knew about amateurs and their wages.

Gregalach's victory at 100-to-1 in the Grand National, when all the other 66 starters fell and Easter Hero almost made it.

Horton Smith's 289 at La Gorce to spread-eagle the field in the richest open championship of the year.

The Fields-Thompson fight at the Chicago Coliseum when chairs, benches and Negroes were thrown down from the galleries.

Claude Bracey's sprinting in the Texas relays (9 2-5 seconds).

Sande Wins Race
Earl Sande's return to the saddle and his victory on Hermitage in his first race.

The misty morning Babe Ruth slipped out at 6 A. M. and was married to Claire Hodgson. His home run the first time up that afternoon.

Walter Hagen's victory in the British open, which followed the unexpected British triumph in the Ryder Cup test.

Clyde Van Dusen's triumph in the Kentucky Derby through mud and storm.

The success of Ray Keech in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis and his tragic death a fortnight later at Altoona.

Leo Lermond's 4:13 mile at Yankee Stadium.

The gallant but unsuccessful attempt of Leigh Count to lift the Ascor Gold cup.

The terrible weather conditions at Poughkeepsie when Columbia's lighthearted crew won the intercollegiate varsity race as other shells sank all over the river.

The 79 that Bobby Jones took at Winged Foot in the National Open, confounding the experts and causing a tie with Al Espinosa.

Jimmy Johnston's comeback at Pebble Beach to defeat Doc Willing, after Bob Jones had been put out in the first round by an unknown kid.

The smashing right-hand punch with which Jack Sharkey knocked out Tommy Loughran.

The fourth game of the world series at Shibe Park when the Athletics made 10 runs in the seventh inning; the fifth game, when they came from behind to score three runs in the ninth and win the world's championship.

Albie Booth's amazing performances in the Army and Dartmouth games, the best individual efforts of the football season: Jack Elder's 98-yard run to beat the Army on that cold afternoon.

Jack Dempsey's perplexity as referee of the Scott-Von Porat fight when the Englishman quit on a technical foul.

And among other things, the return of Gene Tunney from Europe.

Commission Gives Wrestlers Approval

Chicago, Dec. 16—(AP)—The Illinois State Athletic Commission has approved a heavyweight wrestling tournament planned to produce a logical challenger to meet Gus Sonnenberg, titleholder, in a championship match.

Sonnenberg has posted a $2,500 forfeit binding him to meet the survivor of the tournament.

The outstanding contenders named by the Commission are: Stranger Lewis, Martin Piestina, Jimmy Lomdos, Joe Stecher, Dick Schikat, Joe Malcewicz, Stanley Stasiak, Hans Steinke, Wladek Cbysko and John Pesek.

The Commission approved Joe

Coffey as the promoter of the elimination series.

Wisconsin Star Is Expected To Play

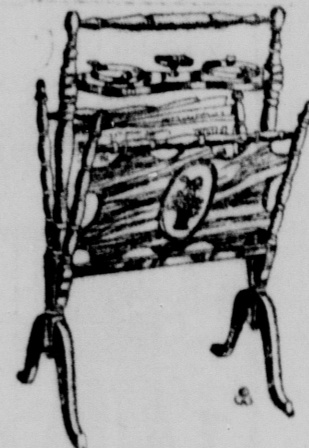

Madison, Wis., Dec. 16—(AP)—Although he was ruled eligible for another season on the Wisconsin varsity football team, the standing of Harold (Bud) Foster, star forward again has been questioned.

Foster had one season of competition at Mason City, Ia., Junior College, but Prof. Thomas E. French of Ohio State University, ruled the player eligible since the college does not award degrees.

No explanation of the basis for the new protest, nor its source, has been given out. Foster was kept out of Wisconsin's opening game against Monmouth College last Saturday, but Coach Walter E. Meanwell expected he would be cleared in time to play against Carleton College Thursday night.

Find Mastodon on Doheny Estate

Scientists all over the nation are greatly interested in the discovery of a complete mastodon skeleton, one of the few perfect skeletons ever found of the gigantic animals that roamed America 25,000 years ago, on an estate of E. L. Doheny, oil magnate, near San Juan Capistrano, Calif. The animal was apparently 11 feet high and 14 feet long. This picture shows as much of the skeleton as had been excavated. Left to right are: Frank Hogan, attorney for Doheny; J. R. Pemberton, geologist; Doheny, and H. E. Leydon, discoverer of the skeleton.

The Avenging Parrot

©1929 by NEA Service, Inc. Anne Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives," etc.

"THIS HAS HAPPENED" — Mrs. Rhodes, in the Circuit Court of said County, is struggling to death. "BONNE DUNDEE," "each detective and police officer is sought, and CORA BAIGER, boarder, involved with her mother, who was her daughter, and is out on bail. Other boarders under suspicion are: HENRY DODD, MR. and MRS. ARTHUR NORMA, and MRS. H. ARTHUR STYLES, all of whom are in the hands of the police. The police are also looking for a man named Bert, who was heard typing in his room until 12:15, and DANNY SHEPHERD.

Dundee, from papers in Mrs. Rhodes' trunk, that the SALLY GRAVES, who wrote her husband, DAN GRIFFIN, sought for embezzlement. Recalling details of Sally's murder in New York June 2, Dundee believes that he is or has been living at the Rhodes house.

Just hesitated at the door long enough to make sure they were quarreling, and that it was no place for me," Mrs. Rhodes answered. "But I did hear Jewel say, 'You're crazy, Cora! If Bert Magnus said anything like that to any girl, it wasn't to me! I've never been in Bert's room in my life, much less at midnight last Thursday!' And then Cora said, 'You're lying! You're been running after Bert Magnus ever since he came here to board, and I myself heard you offer to help him type his scenario.'"

"Then Cora whirled around and shook her comb at Jewel and said, 'If it wasn't you he was talking to Thursday night at midnight, I'd like to know who it was! There's no other 'perfect stenographer' in this house that I know of, and I heard him with my own ears,' Cora says. She says, 'Bert was standing by his dresser with his back turned to the window, and I heard him say, plain as I hear my own voice this minute, 'Go to it, Sweetheart! The perfect stenographer! That's what he said, and if he wasn't talking to you, I'd like to know who it was!'" Mrs. Rhodes paused for breath, and Dundee whistled softly.

"Did you hear anything else, Mother Rhodes?" Dundee asked. "Well, I did listen a second longer, because I thought if Cora was right and Jewel was cutting monkeyshines in a house, she'd hear me in a double-quick hurry! But Jewel brazened it out. She says to Cora, 'I'll face Bert with you! Tell me it wasn't me!' And Cora said, 'Oh, don't bother! He's already told me it wasn't me, but any fool would know he was just trying to be a gentleman. And then Cora says, 'Listen Jewel, I'm not blaming Bert! I blame you and I'm warning you to leave him alone! I tipped away then, because I didn't want to get mixed up in their quarrel,' Mrs. Rhodes concluded.

"I see," Dundee said, frowning, but he did not see at all. "Why didn't you tell this at the inquest, Mother Rhodes?" Dundee asked. "Because I didn't want to make trouble for Jewel, of course," Mrs. Rhodes answered defiantly. "She was called before I was, and she swore she didn't see Cora after the party broke up downstairs. If I'd told what I heard last night, like as not they'd have arrested Jewel for murdering Cora, and you know as well as I do, Bonnie Dundee, that that flighty, silly little pint-size stenographer wouldn't have the nerve to kill a woman just because that woman was jealous on her, or even because she might tell tales on her."

"YOU'RE a darling, Mother Rhodes!" the boy cried, putting his arm about her as he loved her to the door. "By the way, Bert didn't overbear them quarreling over him, I suppose?" "I told you that was just about 11 o'clock," Mrs. Rhodes reminded him severely. "And I guess you heard Bert tell at the inquest that he went for a long walk right after the party broke up downstairs. He didn't get back till after 12, and according to his story, he was asleep almost as soon as he hit the bed."

"I wonder if Jewel has told Bert yet that she and Cora quarreled over him," Dundee speculated, his eyes narrowing. "Huh! Jewel ain't a fool! She's not going to tell anybody! Why should she? She thinks Bert stood up for her anyway, whether he was lying or not, and she hasn't any idea I heard a word. Goodness knows, I didn't tell her the poor, flighty kid to get her into trouble."

"Please don't worry, Mother Rhodes!" Dundee begged. "You did exactly right to tell me, and I give you my word I'm not going to cook up any wild theory about Jewel's murdering Cora."

"You're a nice boy, as boys go," Mrs. Rhodes admitted. "Now turn me back into bed and get some sleep. You need it."

Dundee obeyed her as to the tumbling, but he intended to do some heavy thinking, once his light was off and he could concentrate. The next thing he knew he was starting up to answer a loud knock at his door. Couldn't he be left in peace for a minute? But it was broad daylight and Tilda was calling through the door:

"It was after nine o'clock, Mr. Dundee, and Mrs. Rhodes says if you want any breakfast you'd better come down right away."

"Upholding the best traditions of the force—sleeping on the job!" he grinned ruefully, as he padded down the hall for his shower.

When he entered the dining room, only Mr. Lawrence Sharp sat at the big center table, the morning paper propped against the sugar bowl.

"Hello! Where's everybody? I suppose I'm the last one down," Dundee greeted the head of Marcus Crane's linen department cheerfully.

"Good morning!" Mr. Sharp answered with a rebuking solemnity. "Although this is the Fourth of July, it is a sad day for this house."

"The wife had her breakfast in bed. The poor girl is sadly upset over the tragedy. It is an outrage that the police won't let us move to more pleasant quarters, where we could try to forget."

"It is too bad," Dundee agreed, peering through his cantaloupe. "Everybody taking a holiday, I suppose, and going to the funeral this afternoon?"

"Jewel elected to work until funeral time," Mr. Sharp answered. "You know she's a public stenographer—her own boss. And Mr. Dowd is taking advantage of the holiday to find prospective subscribers to The Morning News at home this a. m. I understand. I take it that the whole household except yourself will attend the funeral, sir. Mrs. Rhodes made rather a point of it."

DUNDEE grinned. He knew where that idea had originated. What would he do without her help?

Mr. Lawrence Sharp caught the grin and rose in pompous disapproval. "Here is the morning paper, sir. It seems odd to see one's own and one's friends' photographs so prominently displayed in the press."

Alone, Dundee studied the picture layout. As the paper proudly assured its readers, these were brand-new pictures, snapped by alert photographers before and after the inquest of Wednesday.

"My hat was on crooked," Tilda mourned, looking over his shoulder at the cropped paper. "So it was, Tilda, but your face was never more charming," he assured her ambiguously but truthfully.

Tilda, blushing furiously, rewarded him with a whole pot of piping hot coffee, and it was an extremely well-fed young man who shortly left the Rhodes House, bound for the offices of The Morning News.

He paused briefly on the front steps and addressed Mr. Sharp as if all were harmony between them. "I've been having a little trouble with my eyes. Thought I ought to have an oculist give them the once-over," he said mendaciously. "Can you recommend a good man, Mr. Sharp?"

"Certainly, certainly!" Nothing pleased Mr. Sharp so much as having his opinion asked. "My man is Dr. Edmund Dolger; offices in the Gaylord Building, on Main Street, you know. Fifth and Main. Closed today, of course. . . . What seems to be the trouble, Dundee?"

"Spots, and er—floating specks," Dundee replied vaguely, and after thanking Mr. Sharp heartily, continued on his way.

Find Mastodon on Doheny Estate

Scientists all over the nation are greatly interested in the discovery of a complete mastodon skeleton, one of the few perfect skeletons ever found of the gigantic animals that roamed America 25,000 years ago, on an estate of E. L. Doheny, oil magnate, near San Juan Capistrano, Calif. The animal was apparently 11 feet high and 14 feet long. This picture shows as much of the skeleton as had been excavated. Left to right are: Frank Hogan, attorney for Doheny; J. R. Pemberton, geologist; Doheny, and H. E. Leydon, discoverer of the skeleton.

MILITANT WET MOVE PLAN OF WET LEADERS

But Schism In Ranks Of Beer Bloc In Congress Seen

By KENNETH G. CRAWFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, D. C., Dec. 14—(UP)—
Schism in the ranks of the House
"beer bloc" was threatened today.

An attempt by Representative LaGuardia, N. Y., Schafer, Wis., and Englebright, California, all Republicans, to organize a militant anti-Volstead movement in Congress designed to weed out the weak-hearted, has brought about the potential split.

Invitations were sent to all members of the modification committee explaining the purpose of the meeting was to organize only those who are militant in their opposition to the prohibition law.

Democrats immediately resented what they regarded as an implied slur at Chairman Lathrop of the unofficial committee, a Maryland Democrat. Many of them said they would ignore the invitation. Lathrop himself addressed a letter to the three Republican enthusiasts declining to attend their meeting and asking them to postpone it at least until the full committee holds a meeting.

LaGuardia indicated the Republicans would go through with their meeting but probably would adjourn without adopting a definite program and wait to see what the full committee does at the meeting Lathrop promised to call. Then, if the trio are still dissatisfied, they may carry out their original plan.

Are YOU Getting YOUR MONEY'S WORTH In Entertainment?

The American people pay more generously for entertainment than any nation on earth. Their generosity has enriched the motion picture industry.

Spoken dialog has come to replace the subtitle of the silent picture. Tagging along with the talkie comes Mechanical Music—an economy.

Real Music is being ordered out of many theatres in favor of this new comer, who never dared a theatrical appearance until he gained the protection of the Talking Picture's novelty and the magic word "Synchronized." Now synchronization with a picture does not give Mechanical Music the quality of Real Music.

Banishment of Living Music represents a loss for the theatre patron. Is this loss balanced by the substitution of Mechanical Music?

A very great many theatre-goers will answer:

"NO!"

Then why should the aforementioned American people, who pay so generously for entertainment, be required to take less for their money than they were wont to get?

Bridegroom Of A Month Is In Jail

Dubuque, Iowa, Dec. 14—(AP)—Lawrence Bailey, 26, was in jail here today accused of misappropriating $5,297.50 while a teller in the Iowa Trust & Savings Bank.

He was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging misappropriation of that amount and at the same time his recently organized motor company was placed in the hands of a receiver at the instance of the bank which places its total shortages at $67,000. The entire amount is covered by insurance, bank officials said.

Bailey was married Nov. 14 and the shortages were discovered while he was on a short honeymoon. Confronted with the shortages on his return, bank officials said he admitted his responsibility for them and was immediately dismissed from his teller's position.

The grand jury will investigate Bailey's financial maneuvers at the January term.

Mystery In Murder Of Memphis Woman

Marked Tree, Ark., Dec. 14—(UP)—

—Relatives today identified the bullet-riddled body of a well-dressed woman found in a clump of bushes near here as that of Mrs. Lennie Clutts, 28, Memphis, Tenn.

The identification was made by her husband, and other relatives, who said the woman had left Memphis Tuesday to visit relatives in Chicago.

The body was found by two rabbit hunters. Four bullet wounds were in the body and the woman had been beaten.

A search began today for two men with whom the woman was seen late Wednesday.

Her husband and relatives could offer no clue to the identity of her slayers.

Coolidge Declines To Reveal Attitude

Boston, —(UP)— Calvin Coolidge apparently has declined to reveal his attitude toward the movements to nominate him for the United States Senate.

President Robert M. Washburn of the Roosevelt Club issued the following statement:

"In answer to my letter as president of the Roosevelt Club asking for many of its members whether Mr. Coolidge would accept an unopposed nomination for the Senate, which they would be glad to endorse, I have an answer from Mr. Coolidge marked personal and confidential."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 15.

The Golden Text was, "The Lord preserveth all them that love Him" (Psalms 145:20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones. I have seen his ways, and will heal him" (Isaiah 57:15, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind, which forms the bud and blossom, will care for the human body, even as it clothes the lily; but let no mortal interfere with God's government by thrusting in the laws of erring, human concepts" (p. 62).

Stage's Tradition Upheld By Actors

Boston, Dec. 14—(UP)—Helen

Homan and her grandfather sang and danced to the applause of an audience at the Old Howard theater here last night.

Since the act was billed as "Helen Homan and folks," some of the patrons may have wondered casually why only two members of the family appeared on the boards.

Fifteen minutes before the curtain call, John J. Homan, 55, of Hollis, N. Y., Miss Homan's father collapsed behind stage and died of acute indigestion.

While Helen's mother remained with the dead actor, Helen and her grandfather upheld the tradition of the theater that "the show must go on."
